

Remote education provision: information for parents

This information is intended to provide clarity and transparency to pupils and parents or carers about what to expect from remote education if National or local restrictions require entire cohorts (or bubbles) to remain at home.

For details of what to expect where individual pupils are self-isolating, please see the final section of this page.

The remote curriculum: what is taught to pupils at home

A pupil's first day or two of being educated remotely might look different from our standard approach, while we take all necessary actions to prepare for a longer period of remote teaching.

What should my child expect from immediate remote education in the Teachers will consider the most effective way to deliver new content and to support progress. These may include:

live teaching (online lessons) recorded teaching (e.g. Oak National Academy lessons, video/audio recordings made by teachers) printed paper packs produced by teachers (e.g. workbooks, worksheets) textbooks and reading books pupils have at home commercially available websites supporting the teaching of specific subjects or areas, including video clips or sequences

For younger pupils, particularly those in EYFS/ Yr1, lessons and learning will look different. We know that young children learn best through play and learn by doing, with an opportunity to talk. The good practice that exists within school will be developed to meet the needs of young children at home with less focus on live/ recorded teaching and a greater emphasis on talk and exploration.

Engagement and feedback that we as parents and carers should provide at home?

You can support your child by:

Accessing Class Dojo daily.

Supporting your child/ren to complete their learning following guidance from class teachers.

Assisting your child/ren in uploading photographs of any completed learning for teachers/staff to comment upon and celebrate.

Ensuring that in any photographs or videos, children and their families are suitably dressed.

Messaging class teachers directly if you or your child have any queries or need any additional support.

from adults at home. We acknowledge the difficulties this may place on families, and we will work with parents and carers to support those pupils in the following ways:
